H. FLYNT, Jailor. A Card. MR. EDITOP :- Permit me to say, through the of Lalayettee county, who have expressed willingness to honor me with the nomination fo ention, to assemble in Lexington, on Tuesday cindly efforts to thus honor me. I have not the vanity to suppose that one so little known in this senatorial district as myself could command any very considerable support in the convention; and, it fortunate enough to overcome this obstacle, and receive the nomination, this objection would be much more serious in canvass matter of doubt if I could be elected. And last, Isn't this a good time for the outrage mill but, by no means the least objection, were I the convention and before the people, I have but little confi lence in my ability to fill the position constituents. For these reasons, and others not by no means less cogent and conclusive, I hope
